ACLED CONFLICT INDEX

Mid-Year Update: 2024 Based on analysis of ACLED political violence event data for the past year, the Index assesses every country and territory in the world according to four indicators: deadliness, danger to civilians, geographic diffusion, and armed group fragmentation. The top 50 ranked countries and territories are experiencing extreme, high, or turbulent levels of conflict.

Deadliness
An assessment of deadly violence using reported fatalities from political violence events.

Danger
An assessment of the direct danger to civilians using the number of violent incidents targeting civilians.

Diffusion
An assessment of the geographic distribution of conflict by calculating the percentage of a country's inhabited areas that experience a high level of violence each year.

Fragmentation
A count of all armed, organized rebel groups and political militias active per country in the last 12 months (in addition to a maximum of one communal militia per first-level administrative unit per country).
